Strip Civil Rights Bill Of Enforcement Powers

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's civil rights bill was stripped in the Senate Wednesday of all its enforcement powers except those covering voting rights. The vote on the crucial issue, coming after five hours of debate, was 52-38. It was a solid victory for Southern senators, who have argued for weeks that the bill as it came from the House would permit the federal government to force racial integration of the schools in their states and impose other social changes. Thirty-four Democrats and 18 Republicans joined to adopt an amendment by Sen. Anderson (D-MN) and Aiken (R-Vt) to eliminate almost all of Section 3 from the measure. Thirteen Northern Democrats and 25 Republicans voted against the amendment.

Section 3 would have empowered the attorney general, on his own initiative, to seek federal court injunctions against all kinds of civil rights violations or threats of violations. Persons flouting the injunctions could be charged with contempt of court and tried by federal judges without a jury. Northern supporters of the amendment hailed the vote as diminishing the chances of a Southern filibuster against what's left of the bill and increasing the chances of passage.

"I think this vote makes the enactment of a workable civil rights bill very likely," Aiken said. Voting rights remain still in the bill is authority for the attorney general to seek injunctions in voting rights cases. In addition, persons who felt their right to vote was being denied illegally could bypass state courts and go directly into federal courts with petitions for restraining orders or demands for damages.

Also in the bill are provisions to set up a bipartisan commission with broad subpoena powers to investigate the civil rights problem, and to create a civil rights division in the Justice Department. But all the remaining provisions are under attack in varying degrees, and further efforts the legislation will be made to soften the legislation. ### Plainclothesmen Provide Burial For Unknown Boy

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A band of grim-faced men gathered Wednesday to help provide "a decent burial" for a small boy whose life was snuffed out by an unknown killer. The name of the youngster in the little white casket was as clouded in mystery as deep as the identity of his brutal slayer. The men attending Wednesday's funeral were detectives who have labored almost round the clock since last Feb. 26 to solve the boy's murder.

It was a case that attracted a lot of headlines and much public attention—but only for a while, after the boy's body was discovered on a vacant lot here. As time passed public interest in the case waned—but the homicide detectives labored on. Possible clues were pursued as far away as Canada, without success. The boy's body remained in the morgue while detectives tried to find some trace of a family. With-out a family to pay for the funeral the body would have been buried in potter's field.

While the search for the slayer continued, the germ of an idea was born in the detectives' minds. Someone suggested a collection be taken up to give the boy a decent burial. The plan was quickly adopted by the plainclothesmen many of them conscious of their own youngsters.

The boy's age has been estimated at between 4 and 6 years. The propeller on a modern oil tanker weighs 27 tons.

Hold Mental Patient In Slayings Of Three In N. Mexico Desert

CARLSBAD, N. M. (AP)—Police Wednesday night questioned and detained a 35-year-old former California mental patient in the ruthless pistol slayings Tuesday of three persons in remote New Mexican desert country.

Officers said Jack Smith, San Diego, Calif., refused to commit himself either on the killing of two women and a man near Hobbs, N. M., or Monday's slaying of two police officers at El Segundo, Calif. All were shot to death with a .22-caliber weapon.

Smith was identified as the man who followed the two women from a Carlsbad cafe early Tuesday morning. Their bodies and that of a trucker who had apparently tried to help them were found later 36 miles west of Hobbs. A Carlsbad officer, who declined use of his name, said Smith had been a patient at a mental hospital in San Bernardino, Calif., in 1954.

He said Smith declined to talk about the slayings. At one point in the questioning he was quoted as saying: "My rope is running out."

Smith was driving an old model auto with California license plates. Bloodstains on his shirt were found to have come from a cut Smith inflicted on his own arm for no apparent reason, using a pocketknife.

Mrs. Mary Trevino, 27, a waitress in the cafe, "positively identified" Smith as the man who had followed the two women from the cafe, police said.

Smith was arrested Tuesday on a charge of vagrancy and had been jailed overnight in Carlsbad. The victims, Mrs. Dorothy Fern Gibson and Mrs. Barbara Ann Lemmons, both 23 of Hobbs, stopped at the bus depot for coffee after dropping off a friend.

An hour after the women left the cafe, the truck driver, J.D. Cantrell, 27, of Carlsbad, was found shot to death on U.S. 180 about halfway between Carlsbad and Hobbs.

His truck, the motor still running, and Mrs. Gibson's car, the right front tire flat, were parked beside the highway.

The women's bodies were discovered at midmorning on a deserted oil field road about 29 miles from Cantrell's. All three had been killed with a .22-caliber weapon.

SEC. HUMPHREY'S RESIGNATION TAKES EFFECT NEXT MONDAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House announced Wednesday Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey's resignation will take effect next Monday.

Robert B. Anderson will be sworn in to succeed Humphrey on that date in a Cabinet-room ceremony.

Both Humphrey and Anderson attended Wednesday's Cabinet meeting.

The White House announced May 29 that Humphrey would leave the Cabinet about the time Congress was winding up its work. At the same time, it was announced that Anderson, a former deputy secretary of defense, would succeed him.

Although there has been no official announcement, expectations are that Humphrey will become chairman of the board of National Steel Co.

Cost Of Living Rises, Hits New Peak For 10th Month In Row

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of living jumped another one-half of 1 per cent in June and probably has set still another record in July.

The consumer price index, issued Wednesday by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, reached a new peak in June for the 10th month in a row, at 120.2 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

This meant the buying power of the consumer dollar had shrunk 3.4 per cent from a year earlier and almost a nickel—4.8 cents—in the 13 months since March 1956 when the big price bulge began.

The average factory worker could take comfort in the fact that his "real earnings"—the spending power of his weekly paycheck—went up in June for the first time since last December.

His average spendable earnings rose about 1 per cent, or 65 cents a week. A longer work week and higher hourly wage rates were enough to offset higher prices for the first time this year.

And an estimated 650,000 workers in the electrical manufacturing, aircraft, trucking, building and some other industries gained pay increases of 2 to 4 cents hourly under their escalator wage contracts geared to fluctuations in living costs. About 100,000 General Electric Co. workers got increases averaging three cents.

The June price advance was led by foods—up 1.4 per cent in one month—but it was an across-the-board movement. Rents, clothing, home furnishings, transportation, medical care, reading and recreation all joined the uphill parade.

Commissioner John Clague of the Bureau of Labor Statistics told reporters the index for July, when (Continued on Page Eleven)

Committee Kills Hell's Canyon Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Interior Committee Wednesday killed one of two Hells Canyon dam bills. Republican members said they would bury the other Thursday.

With two Southern Democrats joining a solid Republican minority, the committee voted 16-14 to strike the enacting clause from a bill by Rep. Frost (D-Idaho) to authorize federal construction of a high dam in the canyon dividing Oregon and Idaho. The federal dam would have been built in the same stretch of the Snake River in which the Federal Power Commission has authorized Idaho Power Co. to build three smaller dams.

Rep. Saylor (R-Pa.) later said Republicans plan Thursday to indefinitely shelve the other Senate passed Hells Canyon bill during a meeting of the House Reclamation subcommittee. This bill also calls for federal construction of the dam.

Pro-dam Democrats conceded that if the Senate bill is brought up, opponents have the votes to dispose of it.

MISSIONARIES ADOPT INDONESIAN BOY

COMPTON, Calif. (AP)—The 4-year old son of a former Indonesian headhunter was adopted Wednesday by two American missionaries who have reared the boy from infancy.

The Rev. Dr. John A. Brennan of nearby Norwalk and his wife were doing medical missionary work in an Indonesian village at the time of the boy's birth. The mother of the boy died in childbirth and several weeks later the father accidentally spilled hot water on the infant, scalding him severely.

Use Rockets, Machineguns, Knock Down Walls Of Fort

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP)—British jet warplanes attacked rebel tribesmen of Oman Wednesday with rockets and machinegun fire. An official announcement in this Persian Gulf oil center said RAF jets based at Sharja, in Oman, knocked down the walls of Ft. Izki in the Wadi Halfin area. The RAF flew 12 sorties against the rebels threatening the throne of the pro-British Sultan of Muscat and Oman. Targets for Thursday, informants said, will include the rebel-held fort at Nizwa, ancient capital of Oman.

Amendment Asserts Federal Control Of Schools Not Intended

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House adopted an amendment to the school construction bill Wednesday saying it is the intent of Congress there shall not be federal control of schools.

Voting on the issue of segregation in the classroom was delayed until Thursday. Final voting on the 1½-billion-dollar measure also is expected Thursday with cloakroom talk inclined to forecast its defeat.

Ninth Atom Test Shot Most Jarring One Of '57 Series

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—A "mighty mite" atomic blast lit up the sky Wednesday for an international audience.

The ninth shot of the summer test series was roughly one half as strong as atomic bombs dropped on Japan in World War II but observers said it was one of the most jarring shots of the 1957 series. The bomb went off before sunrise in a burst of blue-purple.

Thirteen miles from ground zero on Nevada, the shock wave banged like thunder over a group of civilian observers from nine foreign countries.

At St. George, Utah, 120 miles from this desert site, the blast was heard as a low rumble. The Atomic Energy Commission said the shot wasn't expected to produce any significant fallout.

The cloud from the blast rose swiftly to 27,000 feet, then split up. The upper section began drifting east-northeast and the lower portion west-northwest.

An underground shelter about 4½ miles from ground zero, 18 scientists took radiation readings. Several hundred military observers were in trenches 3,000 yards from the 500-foot tower on which the bomb was mounted.

The foreign observers on News Nob were from England, Canada, France, Germany, Italy, Turkey, the Netherlands, Spain and Sweden.

The next shot in the series may go off Thursday morning. Weather checks were to be made before a final decision is reached.

Report Big Wheat Surplus Reduced

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported Wednesday that the big wheat surplus was reduced about 12½ per cent during the marketing year which ended July 1.

The carryover supply from past years was reported at 905,240,000 bushels compared with 1,033,415,000 a year ago. The carryover supply for the 1946-55 period averaged 434,294,000 bushels.

The reduction in the last 12 months reflected record wheat exports. The department also reported that the stocks of corn and soybeans in storage on July 1 continued at record levels. Corn stocks were put at 1,962,599,000 bushels compared with 1,714,836,000 a year ago. The 10-year July average is 1,083,732,000 bushels.

Stocks of soybeans were reported at 87,251,000 bushels in July 1 compared with 64,275,000 a year earlier.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP)—An 80-year-old woman thought to be living in poverty turned out Tuesday to be a former top vaudeville performer with about $20,000 hidden away.

Mrs. Maude Kimball's reputation and wealth came to light when she finally was persuaded to leave her apartment, which had been purchased for expansion of the Indiana State Teachers College campus here.

She had locked herself in her room and refused to leave until Mayor Ralph Tucker and other officials coaxed her out. Believing Mrs. Kimball to be penniless, authorities sent her to the county jail until relatives could be located.

WEDMEYER REVEALS LINDBERGH FLEW 50 COMBAT MISSIONS IN SECOND WORLD WAR

WESTBURY, N. Y. (AP)—Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer (Ret.) said Wednesday a "push curtain of bureaucracy" hid the fact that Charles A. Lindbergh flew 50 combat missions and shot down at least one Japanese fighter plane in the Pacific in World War II.

Wedemeyer, former commander of U.S. Army forces in China spoke at the dedication of a plaque marking the take-off point of Lindbergh's solo flight to Paris in 1927.

"I think the public is entitled at least to some of the unpublished contributions in the Lindbergh odyssey," Wedemeyer said. "When the Japanese hit Pearl Harbor, Col. Lindbergh found it impossible because of the political climate to participate in the war as a member of the armed forces."

"So he went to war as a technical representative of the aircraft industry. He went on many missions with Corsairs; he took part in strafing raids; he flew cover for bombers and did some special bombing to prove what the Corsair could do."

"All the pertinent facts are on the record, but that closely guarded government record is unavailable to the public. Let me push aside the push curtains of bureaucracy for a moment and talk about the man and the facts."

Wedemeyer said Lindbergh spent six months in the Pacific, made 50 combat missions, had 178 combat hours, shot down at least one Japanese fighter plane, and took up probably the heaviest bomb load ever carried up to that time in a single-engine fighter.

It had been reported at various times in the past that Lindbergh had flown combat missions, and had shot down a Japanese fighter, but Wedemeyer gave more details Wednesday.

Lindbergh was commissioned a brigadier general in the Air Force reserve in 1954 on nomination by Gen. Eisenhower and now is a consultant for Pan American World Airways.

Wedemeyer said Lindbergh went to the Pacific to study fighter plane performances under combat conditions with a view toward improving plane design.

Amendment Asserts Federal Control Of Schools Not Intended

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House adopted an amendment to the school construction bill Wednesday saying it is the intent of Congress there shall not be federal control of schools.

Voting on the issue of segregation in the classroom was delayed until Thursday. Final voting on the 1½-billion-dollar measure also is expected Thursday with cloakroom talk inclined to forecast its defeat.

The bill would authorize $900 million dollars a year for five years in federal grants to help the states build needed classrooms. Distribution would be half on the basis of state needs, half on the basis of school-age population. The states would match the federal outlays.

Opponents of the measure talked of the program's cost and danger of federal control as a line in Wednesday's second day of debate.

The amendment adopted by voice vote was offered by Rep. Wright (D-Tex.), who said it was needed so the intent of Congress would not be misconstrued.

The amendment says Congress recognizes that responsibility for administration and direction of public school policies lies wholly with the states and local communities and adds:

"It is expressly not the purpose of this act to provide or to permit control, direction, supervision or interference by federal authority in any matters concerning school personnel, curricula, textbooks and instructional materials, or local school administration policies."

The House killed a school aid bill last year after adopting an amendment by Rep. Powell (D-NY) to bar aid to districts practicing segregation.

Rebels Grab Foothills

About 1,500 rebels swooped out of the desert mountains of the Arabian coastal monarchy last week under the leadership of Imam Ghaleb ben Ali, former religious leader of Oman.

They are reported to have taken control of about 2,000 square miles of rugged foothills, and their rebellion threatened the rule of the 47-year-old Sultan, Said bin Taimur, a friend of Britain's in the Persian Gulf area. Treaties have linked Oman with Britain since 1839.

Discount Illinois Man's Story Of Officers' Slaying

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Two accomplices of William T. Allen, 25, fugitive from an Illinois mental institution, were reported captured near Oakland Wednesday. Allen was described as "a psychopathic braggart."

Police Capt. Anthony Bolger said Allen's story that he shot two police officers to death at El Segundo, Calif., had been discounted.

Bolger said Allen related he shot the officers with a .22-caliber pistol and threw it into the Oakland Estuary.

Coast Guard divers and Oakland police were searching there for such a weapon. The names of the two men arrested Wednesday were not disclosed.

Bolger also said Allen told him he went to the Los Angeles area in hopes of kidnapping a movie star—"like Marilyn Monroe or Elvis Presley."

Allen was arrested in Oakland Tuesday night when police saw the Illinois license plates on a stolen car.

St. Louis police said Allen shot and wounded Police Cpl. Joseph Moore in a St. Louis tavern hold-up June 22, 1956. Allen escaped from deputies Feb. 9 as they were taking him to Chicago for trial on robbing taverns.

The first earth satellite may say up for nine years, predicts Dr. Theodore E. Sterne of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory.

Sunny Business Skies

Bankers are, of course, paid to keep a sharp weather eye on economic trends. When you're lending other people's money, you can't indulge in casual guesswork. So it's significant that almost unanimously they look for a bright business prospect in the remainder of 1957.

Surveyed by the American Bankers Assn., overwhelmingly the country's bankers said they foresee a time of high, stable economic activity, with employment and income holding at today's excellent levels.

This optimistic view of the future comes at a time when the current status of business continues curiously mixed, though generally at a very high level.

The seasoned onlookers find both bright and dark spots. The bright patches aren't sufficiently numerous to suggest a new boom is developing, and the dark blotches don't coalesce into a pattern presaging depression, or even recession.

Obviously new elements of stability exist today which did not a couple of decades ago. It would hardly have been possible then to imagine a bustling economy with home building and automobile manufacture at considerably less than top level.

Yet that's the circumstance in 1957. The truth is the economy not only has a lot of well-advertised props—defense output, farm payments, government construction programs and the like—but it boasts industries like chemical manufacture which measured small in the 1930's but today contributes heavily to the national balance.

On top of this, the service trades bulk far larger in 1957 than they did in 1937 or even 1947. Far more people are kept busy doing things for people rather than making things. These activities, like the many and varied new lines of manufacture, help to soak up the shock of declining business in some of the more established fields like home building and car making.

Thus it is that, with notable dark spots, the United States in 1957 nevertheless is breaking all previous records for total output of goods and services, for personal income and for consumer spending—three vital measures of economic health.

It's a phenomenon that is baffling some of our own economists, and it certainly must be disconcerting to the Russians, who have been forecasting the collapse of capitalism with foolish regularity for some decades. But no matter whom it baffles, today's high level stability is indeed welcome.

NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Street, famous for its bulls and bears, also has a lady ghost writer.

She is Miss Julia A. Wilson, a longtime Southern belle with blue eyes who at 30 has become one of the nation's top specialists in writing financial literature.

The titans of the financial world, expert in the art of investing money, sometimes find it difficult to express their facts and figures in plain, simple, and stock prospectuses. She has the knack of making obscure financial terms understandable in the king's English.

In their hour of need they often turn to Miss Wilson, a past master at writing corporate reports, understandable to the public.

"There's no mystery about it," she said smiling. "I simply use language that even men can understand."

Behind her present skill with words, however, lie 25 years of hard study of economics and business prose. She was moved also by a challenging remark once made by her father:

"No subject is dull — you are dull for not finding something interesting in it."

Miss Wilson, daughter of a Tennessee textile manufacturer, took up her unusual career after an unsuccessful marriage because, as she puts it crisply, "I didn't want alimony."

After graduate study in economics at Columbia University, she became a securities analyst for a Wall Street firm. Later she became a researcher for Time Magazine, then became a copy writer for an advertising firm specializing in travel agencies.

In 1944 she decided to specialize in investment writing, and became one of the first women to enter the field. Today her clients include some of the top investment firms, and she is currently engaged in writing a definitive study for the National Assn. of Investment Companies.

One reason for the easy-to-read quality of her financial studies is the fact she usually writes them four times.

"I dictate the first draft," she said, "then go over it three more times before I am satisfied with it."

Using her Upper East Side apartment as an office, she usually is at the desk in her study by 6:30 a.m., and she works right through until 5 or 6 o'clock in the afternoon. Many writers think 800 words a day is a fair output. Under deadline pressure Miss Wilson sometimes turns out 5,000.

But she hasn't let work turn her into a dull girl. She likes to dance, go to the opera, and recently learned to play the piano.

HOSPITALITY CENTERS OPENED BY CHURCHES
NEW YORK (AP)—Church-supported hospitality centers for U.S. servicemen and officers on leave in the Far East are doing booming business these days.

The Rev. Mr. Norman E. Koehler, back from three years in Japan where he set up seven centers, said the centers are filled to capacity almost every day. They're the result of cooperation between the Christian churches in Japan and American churches, through the General Commission on Chaplains.

The centers are unique, the Rev. Koehler said, because they were set up at the request of the Japanese churches to provide Christian fellowship for Protestant Japanese and American young men and women.

In addition to Japan, centers are operating in Hong Kong and Taipei.

"Whose Idea Was It to Stand Up and Be Counted?"

★ EDSON IN WASHINGTON ★

Long-'Dead' RFC Proves To Be a Lively Corpse

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—It was to laugh, the other day, when they took down the sign of the Reconstruction Finance Corp. to celebrate the fact that it was now officially dead.

RFC was ordered killed by Congress as of June 30, 1954. Three years later it still hasn't stopped breathing. There are around 100 employees trying to settle the estate. It consists of 80 million dollars' worth of loans and properties the government can't get rid of yet. But that's the least of it.

RFC left half a dozen heirs who are still in business at the same old stands. They have a combined lending authority of between 20 and 25 billion dollars. But instead of curtailing this business, Congress is now considering a number of measures which would increase it.

For instance, small business RFC got into the small business loans in 1934. Its portfolio was turned over to Small Business Administration when it was created as a "temporary" agency in 1953. Since then SBA has lent some 350 million dollars.

BUT THE HOUSE recently passed a bill to increase SBA's lending authority to 500 million, to lower its maximum interest rate from 6 to 5 per cent—even in this tight money market—and to make it a permanent agency.

That's liquidating 'em with a vengeance.

Then take the case of Federal National Mortgage Association, or Fannie Mae. RFC gave this one to Fannie Mae. RFC gave this one to Fannie Mae. RFC gave this one to Fannie Mae.

Fannie Mae was set up in business for herself in 1950. Today she owns more than 400,000 FHA and Veterans Administration mortgages worth around 3.5 billion dollars.

But Congress has just passed a new housing bill which will increase Fannie Mae's lending authority by 900 million dollars. This is 350 million more than the administration asked.

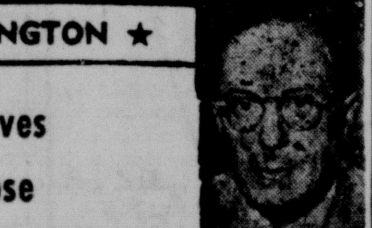

And for special mortgage loans, Congress has provided additional lines of credit totaling 425 million dollars.

In Hollywood

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Singer Pat Boone is wrestling with his conscience today. The problem: Shall he kiss his leading lady in his new picture?

The problem didn't arise in his first picture, "Bernadine," but in "April Love" there is a scene in which the handsome 23-year-old rock 'n' roller is supposed to kiss Shirley Jones.

He asked the writers to get around it if they could. They fixed things so that Shirley turns her head just as Pat starts to kiss her. "However, the director feels that there should be a kiss to give the scene greater impact," Boone said. "So far we have been shooting around it and I have to make up my mind within the next three weeks whether to kiss her or not."

Boone, called by his studio the most important singing-acting discovery since Bing Crosby, has long held a personal belief that he shall not have physical contact with any woman other than his wife.

"I've had many a conference with myself over this belief recently," he told a reporter. "I still don't know whether I can reconcile myself to doing something on the screen that I wouldn't do in my personal life."

This is no publicity stunt on Pat's part. Nor is he a "goody-goody" prude. Friends say he is tolerant of other people's beliefs and also of their vices.

He will go to a Hollywood cocktail party if his job demands it. Yet he doesn't drink, smoke or cuss.

His pretty wife Shirley also is opposed to his kissing other women on the screen.

"But," Pat said, "not violently. Her main concern is what our three children will think about their daddy kissing other women."

He realizes what his belief would do to his movie career—how it would limit roles. One 20th Century-Fox executive said he had never heard of a similar situation in the history of the movies.

He emphasized that the belief is not a tenet of his church, although many members of the church hold similar views.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is the story of how three Southern senators found three big talking points to cause division and surprise among supporters of President Eisenhower's civil rights bill.

There would seem hardly any reason for surprise if members of Congress, North and South, had done their homework by reading a lawbook for no more than 30 minutes.

The three Southerners who developed the talking points, all Democrats, are Senators Russell (Ga.), Ervin (NC) and Eastland (Miss.). They got a big helping hand from Robert Young, a lawyer on the staff of Eastland's Judiciary Committee.

Their three points: Russell—This bill would permit the President to use troops to back up court orders in civil rights cases. Eastland—under this bill people could be compelled to be informers. Ervin—The bill would deprive a man of trial by jury.

This is the background for what follows:

There is an old 1871 law—called Section 1865—which says anyone whose civil rights are violated can sue in federal court for damages or ask a judge to order the violation stopped. This law covers a very broad field of civil rights.

Many Southern Negroes, particularly the poorest, never heard of the law and, if they did, couldn't afford a court fight. So the Eisenhower bill proposes:

Section 1865 should be amended to let the attorney general step in and ask for a court order to stop a civil rights violation. Any one disobeying could be tried for contempt by the judge, without jury trial, and sent to jail.

If you took the trouble to go into a law library and ask the clerk to let you see the civil rights laws, you'd find three pages of them listed together in what is called the U.S. Code—meaning a collection of laws still on the books.

Two of them apply directly to Section 1865 and therefore—since the Eisenhower bill would amend Section 1865 by adding new powers to it—they would apply to the bill if it became law.

One says the President can use troops to back up a court order issued under Section 1865; the other says—and it's called the "Compulsory Informer Act"—that anyone even knowing of a conspiracy to violate a person's civil rights under Section 1865 must tell the government or face damages.

But when Atty. Gen. Brownell appeared before the House Judiciary Committee in 1956 and 1957—when the bill was being considered—no one questioning him asked about the use of troops and compulsory informers.

He didn't volunteer the information. When the House passed the bill in 1956 and again in 1957, both times after lengthy debate, no mention was made of the use of troops and informers in connection with the bill.

House members made their big pitch on the trial-by-judge issue this year, but only after Ervin had been talking about it in the Senate for months. It was Ervin himself who made this a prime issue.

But it was different when Brownell appeared before the Senate Judiciary Committee. Young had taken the trouble to look up the old civil rights laws which—in addition to Section 1865—might be affected by Eisenhower's bill.

He told Ervin, Ervin let Young question Brownell about the use of troops and how it was directly tied in with the old law to be amended. Brownell blew up, refused to discuss it, even when Ervin chimed in, and said it was an affront to the President.

Maybe Brownell was truly surprised. It's possible he didn't look up the old law either, and simply had relied on lawyers in his Justice Department to draw up the Eisenhower bill.

Russell, in reading over the record of the Senate Judiciary Committee, noted Young's questioning of Brownell on troops. He asked Young for more information.

Young gave him a detailed explanation.

On July 2 Russell made a biting speech against the bill, noting the use-of-troops tie-in with it, and denounced it as cunning and devious. This even seemed to be new to Eisenhower, who then began to act puzzled about his bill.

Meanwhile, Young told Eastland of the tie-in between the Eisenhower bill and compulsory informers. Eastland on July 11 made savage attack on the bill, pointing up the compulsory informer angle.

Monday the Senate voted unanimously to repeal the old law on the use of troops.

Outlook Grows Better for Angina Pectoris Victims

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Fortunately most of us do not anticipate unpleasant events, including illness.

However, this means, among other things, that readers of this column do not as a rule become interested in a disorder until they or someone near to them have it.

I presume it's for this reason that several people have inquired recently about angina pectoris, though I have written on this subject many times before.

Among the questions which confuse them is the relationship of angina pectoris to coronary thrombosis.

A coronary thrombosis is a complete blocking of one of the blood vessels supplying the heart. It is not the same as angina pectoris, though some people who have had a coronary thrombosis will also have symptoms of angina.

The meaning of the name of angina pectoris is simply "pain in the chest." But it is applied by physicians to a condition in which insufficient amounts of blood are flowing through the coronary arteries to the heart muscle.

IF THESE vessels develop spasms—or more commonly if the passageways are partly narrowed—there will be times when not enough blood passes through them. The needs of the heart muscle for blood are not satisfied, and the pain of angina pectoris develops.

In typical instances, the pain is likely to be absent when the person with angina is resting. Pain is usually first noticed when the heart is pumping rapidly as happens when exercising (climbing stairs or running for a bus, for example). Under such circumstances, the heart needs larger quantities of blood than it does when resting.

The patient with angina may also have a feeling of anxiety, shortness of breath and cold, clammy sweating. A person who has angina pectoris must, therefore, learn how much exercise can be taken without producing symptoms.

MANY VICTIMS of angina learn how to live with their hearts and have little or no discomfort and are able to continue most of their activities. Indeed, the outlook for patients with angina is by no means unfavorable.

The treatment of angina pectoris has likewise improved. The amount and nature of exercise which can be tolerated can be more closely calculated than in the past. Also, there are several drugs which will usually help the victim, though drugs do not cure the underlying cause.

A WORD should be said about surgery. Not every victim of angina is suitable for heart surgery, but it has been used with good results in some.

The major purpose of such surgery is to stimulate the formation of new blood vessels to the heart muscle to replace those which have been narrowed.

Matter Of FACT

Florence Nightingale, founder of modern nursing and hospital administration, was the daughter of wealthy parents, but felt as did Joan of Arc that the Voice of God was calling her to service. At the age of 17 she devoted herself to the care of the sick. She spent her last years compiling works of Christian mysticism.

So They Say

It (Venezuela) is a country ruled by a dictatorship which has no freedom of the press.

—Argentine ambassador to Venezuela. Gen. Carlos Toranzo Montero, on "interruption" of diplomatic relations between the nations.

What we are trying to do (through civil rights bill) is to make effective in actual life the constitutional rights of all citizens—regardless of race and color—primarily the right to vote. —Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.)

It (latest Soviet purge) is a progressive return to normality, a move in a healthy direction. —India's Prime Minister Nehru.

For Hot Dish on Hot Day Try These Banana Fritters

COOL EATING is offered at Publik House, Sturbridge, Mass., with this tasty fresh fruit salad accompanied by iced tea.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

On a sizzling hot day we lunched coolly at the Publik House in tree-shaded Sturbridge, Mass., one of New England's finest eating places.

John Wetteland, the gifted chef, believes a cold meal should have one hot dish. He served us first a cup of strong, clear, hot chicken soup with rice, then a fresh fruit salad in a large wooden bowl. The salad was a production: tender lettuce lining the bowl and piled high with orange and grapefruit sections, pineapple cubes, watermelon and cantaloupe balls, strawberries, black cherries, apple slices and blueberries—all fresh, of course. This was topped with a mound of cottage cheese bright with a sprig of mint. In a separate bowl—cream mayonnaise.

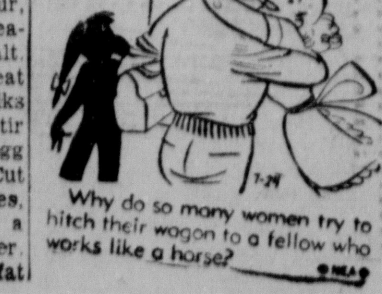

With it, Wetteland served a hot banana fritter with lemon sauce, and the perfect iced tea.

Banana Fritters
Batter: Two eggs, 2 cups flour, 2 cups milk, 1/4 cup sugar, 2 teaspoons baking powder and salt. Beat egg whites stiff, then beat sugar into whites. Beat egg yolks until thick, add milk and oil. Stir in flour mixture and fold in egg whites. Keep the batter thin. Cut bananas in three or four pieces, sprinkle with lemon juice and a little sugar, then dip in batter. Lower carefully into deep, hot fat.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Hot chicken soup with rice in cups, Westminster crackers, crab Louis with Remoulade sauce, sliced tomatoes and watercress, hot cornbread, butter or margarine, blueberry pie with cheddar cheese, coffee, tea, milk.

Drain on paper towel. Serve at once. (Cut recipe in half for 370 degrees F.) and fry until delicately browned, about 3 to 5 minutes.

Auction Sale Of Fat Livestock A Feature Of Morgan 4-H Fair

There'll be something new in the 4-H fair program to be held at the Morgan county fair grounds from July 31 through Aug. 4.
 Prize-winning fat livestock owned by 4-H members of Morgan county will be sold at auction Saturday afternoon, Aug. 3.
 C. F. Strang, chairman of the county 4-H committee, is sale chairman.
 "Everybody likes an auction, but your 4-H committee has special reasons for wanting a sale of 4-H market livestock at the Morgan County Fair," Strang says.
 "It believes, an auction will:
 1. Provide a higher market for 4-H livestock.
 2. Provide more incentive for 4-H boys and girls to do a good job.
 3. Provide an opportunity for local people to buy high quality meat.
 4. Help promote the fair."
 Only market class animals will be sold — steers, wethers, barrows, and gilts shown as market hogs—and only Morgan 4-H members may sell their livestock. Each member will be limited to sell two steers, three hogs and three wethers.

 Sale order, Strang said, will be determined by placings where possible, with champions and reserve champions selling first, then first place individuals within the breeds and so on.
 A "no sale agreement" will be in effect. The 4-H member can reject the final bid.
 Other 4-H fairs have found the public auction of fat stock to be an excellent climax of the show. It affords a good market for excellent livestock and it also gives local residents the chance to buy a supply of high quality meat and promote the fair at the same time.

Six Jacksonville Residents Attend Denver Gathering

Six Jacksonville residents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hacker, Mrs. Nettie Bartlett and daughter Barbara, Olive Hacker, and Elmer Day have returned from Denver, Colo., where they attended a large gathering of Jehovah's Witnesses, one of seven conventions scheduled for the United States this summer. Mr. Hacker is the presiding elder of the Jacksonville congregation.
 Delegates from 40 states and Canada attended the Denver convention which lasted five days. The highlight of the gathering was a service in the Denver Coliseum at which Fred Franz, vice president of the Watchtower Bible society, addressed 14,501 persons.
 In reporting the magnitude of the convention Mr. Hacker said 5,000 rooming accommodations were provided in private homes in Denver and 7,000 in motels and hotels. The trucking and equipment department handled 35,000 items, including everything from a 4-ton mixer to pins. The cafeteria served nearly 50,000 meals, feeding 5,400 persons an hour. Nearly a ton of roast beef fed delegates Sunday noon.

Some 3,000 men and women volunteered their services to operate the 21 departments from lost and found to administration. Over 30,000 pieces of Bible literature were placed with Denver residents through personal house calls.
 A warning for all parents and physicians to be on the alert for symptoms of a strange virus among Boy Scouts who attended the national encampment at Valley Forge has been received by the Morgan County Health Department from the Illinois Department of Health at Springfield.
 Addressed to Dr. James M. Chapman, Morgan county health director, a telegram from the state department stated "Boy Scout Jamboree ended July 19. Influenza-like diseases in more than expected numbers occurred in California and sporadic cases were seen in practically all state groups. Virus from two throat washings isolated at Valley Forge are antigenically characteristic of Far East influenza. Outbreak of influenza-like illness may occur among Boy Scouts en route on trains and buses."
 Dr. Chapman said a number of boys from this section of Illinois attended the Scout Jamboree. He has had no reports of illness resembling the so-called Oriental flu, but urged early report of suspected symptoms of any virus-type ailment.

Unit Entertains Busy Bee 4-H Club, Arenzville

ARENZVILLE—The Arenzville Home Bureau Unit was hostess to the Busy Bee 4-H Club at its July meeting held at the Junior High building Thursday, with the mothers of the girls and other guests present.

Mrs. James Manker, chairman of the Home Bureau, welcomed the guests and conducted the business meeting. Mrs. George Morrison gave the vice-chairman's report, in the absence of Mrs. L. J. Wessler.

August is picnic month so the annual picnic for Home Bureau members and their families will be held on August 8, at 6:30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Bartelheim.

Thursday marked achievement day for the local 4-H girls, and a program was presented in charge of the 4-H leaders, Mrs. Virgil Bartelheim and Mrs. Alvin Paul, and the 4-H president, Miss Carol Lovekamp. The program opened with singing of "America," followed by the Pledge of Allegiance and the 4-H Pledge. Each girl then introduced herself and gave her age, the number of years she has been a member of the 4-H club and her project.

Donna Cox gave a talk, "Good Health, Good Looks." A demonstration, "How To Make A Finger Food Salad," was given by Karan Beard. Vicki Manker talked on "4-H Symbols." Carol Lovekamp gave a demonstration, "Making and Shaping Rolls." Janice Morrison sang a solo accompanied by Mrs. Albert Winkelman. BEAUTY AT HER FINGERTIPS—A new development in beauty culture, called TenDay Press-on Nail Color, may solve the nail care problems of millions of American women. The new product consists of a strip of thin plastic film cut into appropriate sizes and shapes. The film can be applied in one quick, dry, spill-proof operation and is guaranteed to beautify the nails with chip-proof color for at least 10 days. The "petals" for the nails can be peeled from their backing with little effort and pressed onto the nails where they will adhere firmly. In photo above, the fingers at left have the new nails just after they have been pressed on and before the excess material is trimmed away. At right are the finished nails.

WAVERLY MONTADALES TO SHOW AT FAIR

William C. Handy, 15, of Waverly and his brother, Jim, 17, will bring some top-ranking Montadale sheep to the Morgan County Junior Fair, which runs this year from July 31 through Aug. 4.

Bill is shown above with an aged ewe which won first at the Greene county fair held last week in Carrollton. The two brothers have been consistent exhibitors, and just as consistent premium winners, at the local fair.

Patterson Plans

Annual Fish, Chicken Fry

PATTERSON—Thursday, Aug. 8, will be a big event in Patterson. People from far and near will gather for the seventeenth annual fish and chicken fry, which is sponsored by the Pine Tree, Rawlins and Patterson cemeteries.

This annual event was begun in 1941 for the upkeep of these three cemeteries and has grown in size each year, reaching its peak in 1953, when the largest amount of net profit was realized. It seemed that year that luck was against the event as an enormous rain fell the night before, getting all the tents down. But rather than being a handicap, due to the fact that farmers could not get into their fields, the crowd turned out bigger than usual.

Now the picnic does not depend on a tent in which to serve the meals. Two years ago the school built a gymnasium, and the meals have been served there since that time, thus eliminating the expense of a tent.

Good entertainment is being planned for this year, and will be announced at a later date. Plan to spend Thursday, Aug. 8 in Patterson where you will meet friends, be well fed and help a good cause.

DELAYED RETURN

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—A Denver druggist has his own nomination for the world's most honest man.

Last December, a man entered the drug store, made a purchase and went away. Six months later, he turned up at the drug store again with a check for $5 and told the druggist:

"Last Christmas, you were confused and gave me five bucks too much change when I was here. I came to return it."

Seems a mighty big dividend for the low cost of a Mark IV auto air conditioner, doesn't it?

ROODHOUSE—Ben F. McMahan, who resides with his son, Clyde McMahan, west of Roodhouse, will quietly observe his 85th birthday anniversary at his home, Thursday, July 25.

Mr. McMahan, who has only one living child with whom he resides, is a retired farmer and carpenter. There are three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. He has lived all of his life in this community.

Miss Doris McMahan, Springfield, and friend, Bob Pritchett, Petersburg, spent the weekend in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde McMahan.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hannaford and family and nephew, Lonnie Hannaford, are spending a week at Lake Nokomis, Wis. They were accompanied there by his sister, Mrs. Bryan Smothers, husband and daughter, Mrs. Owen Miles, and son, Jimmy, Taylorville, in whose cottage they will stay.

Mr. and Mrs. George Duncan have returned to Chicago after a visit in the home of his aunt, Mrs. Amanda Hannaford, and with White Hall relatives. They were accompanied home by his sister, Mrs. Mary Sorrells, who has spent some time here.

Princess' Friend To Leave Army, Not Go To Cyprus

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret's latest favorite, about to be packed off on military assignment to Cyprus, was quoted today as saying he intends to resign his army commission.

Lord Patrick Beresford, 23, a lieutenant in the exclusive Royal Horse Guards, is slated to leave within two weeks on what the War Office announcement called a routine assignment.

The Daily Mail quoted the polo-playing nobleman as saying, "I intend to resign before the end of the year, so it is nonsense to say I will be going out to Cyprus."

Rumors circulated last week that engagement of Beresford and 26-year-old Margaret was imminent. Newspapers hinted Beresford's transfer was arranged to save the royal family embarrassment over the rumors.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK (NEA)—At 70, Tyrus Raymond Cobb wears glasses, but the eyes that made him the greatest ballplayer who ever lived miss nothing.

While Cobb and I watched the Braves edge the Giants at the Polo Grounds the other night he commented on everything from New York's two National League clubs being California bound to the size of Del Crandall's feet.

Regarding the contemplated franchise switches: "The first thing they know major league owners will run out of towns and then will have to come crying back to the rich fields they left."

Crandall raced back to the screen after a foul fly. "Look at the little feet on that catcher."

While he realized that the Giants are hard up for runs, Cobb couldn't understand Willie Mays attempting to steal on the first pitch in the eighth inning of a 1-1 game. "Not without protection from the batter." Bobby Thomson made no effort to swing at an obvious pitch-out. Umpire Lee Ballanfant thumbed Mays out.

"He wasn't out!" Cobb snapped to Joe Cairnes, president of the Milwaukee club, seated with us. Out of baseball for 29 years, Cobb, who in his own mind never was out on a close one, still violently disagrees with umpires. "They have blind spots," he said.

Frank Frisch came by to remind Cobb that the Georgia Peach always played in long sleeves and with the shirt collar pinned up around his throat. The long sleeves protected his elbows and the pinned-up collar kept out the dirt when he slid. "And I got on base many times when ticked here," recalled Cobb, flipping his right sleeve.

What did he think of the bare-armed ballplayer of today? "They're out there for comfort."

Did Cobb, during his 24 years of clawing and cutting American League baseball, ever wear anything in his cap as a protection against bean balls? "Not a thing, and I was the original African dodger."

Now that ballplayers wear protective helmets, are more batters hit by pitched balls and why? "It seems that way and it is because they are more spread out, anchored there. They can't get out of the way."

On the shift against Eddie Mathews, a left-hand pull hitter, especially when he faces a left-handed pitcher, the shortstop plays well on the other side of second base.

"Mathews can't change his stance to meet situations. Against a left-hand pitcher (Johnny Antonelli was working for the Giants), Mathews should close his stance, choke the bat a little and move a little farther away from the plate. Make that bat a little right out there and just jab it into left field."

"Left-hand batters should hit left-hand pitchers to left field. If the batter closes his stance, he hasn't committed his outside foot, but all they want to do is swing from the end of the bat, and they can't pull against a locked hip. A left-hand pitcher's curve is spinning away from a left-hand batter. He should hit the ball with its strength."

Red Schoendienst singled between the third baseman and the shortstop. "See how those choke hitters hit 'em," enthused Cobb, slapped Joe Cairnes on the back.

Would Cobb stick to his Willie Keeler type of hitting in this day of the lively ball?

"No, sir-ee," said the fiery genius of the game. "I'd adjust myself to home run hitting."

"But look, that third baseman way back there. What a bunt would do!"

Chisox Crush Yanks 7-2 As Billy Pierce Notches 14th Victory

NEW YORK (AP)—The Chicago White Sox drubbed the New York Yankees Wednesday 7-2 as Billy Pierce won his 14th victory of the season and thereby reduced the Yankees' lead over the Sox to 4½ games.

Luis Aparicio led the White Sox attack with three singles and a triple as the vaunted Yankee defense cracked wide open. In the first, Gerry Coleman let Aparicio's grounder go through his legs and two runs scored. In the fifth Mickey Mantle misjudged Aparicio's drive to deep center and the ball went over his head for a triple. In the eighth Earl Torgeson stole second and went to third on Yogi Berra's bad throw.

Offsetting the victory for the White Sox was an injury to Minnie Minoso, star left fielder. He aggravated a pulled leg muscle in his left groin as he rounded third to score in the first inning and had to leave the game.

Ted Beard, acquired only Tuesday night from Indianapolis, went to right field for the Sox and Jim Landis moved over to Minoso's position.

Two walks and Gil McDougald's single in the fifth gave the Yankees their first score. Berra homered in the eighth for the other run.

The White Sox opened up on Willie Ford, the Yankee starter. In the first, Nellie Fox beat out a roller, Torgeson and Minoso walked, and Fox scored on Larry Doby's grounder. Then came Coleman's error and Torgeson

Colt Leaguers Defeat Pony All-Stars, 5-2

The Colt Leaguers avenged last week's 5-4 loss to the Pony League All-Stars with a 5-2 decision at Nichols Park Wednesday night. Larry Sellers toiled on the hill for the Colt League and allowed only two hits in the six-inning tilt to receive credit for the victory.

The Pony League scored its only two runs on Fred Curtis' sacrifice fly and a hit batsman with the bases jammed.

The Colt League picked up a pair of tallies in the first on a base hit and two base errors. The winners clinched the victory on Douglas' two-run single in the third frame.

Fred Curtis was tagged with the loss in his three inning stint on the hill and allowed only three hits. Kenny Norton worked two innings and permitted two hits. Larry Smith finished up for the losers and gave up two hits.

Stocker and Norton collected the All-Stars' only two hits in the contest.

Buxbaum Defends National Public Links Golf Title

NEW YORK (AP)—James (Junie) Buxbaum, who was within a few months of being the oldest player to capture the National Public Links golf title when he won last year at 40, will defend it next week against two ex-champs who could break all age records by winning.

The 150 - man field which will start in the 36 - hole qualifying round at Hershey, Pa., next Monday was released Wednesday by the U. S. Golf Assn. In addition to Buxbaum, it includes Stan Biel, the Yonkers, N. Y., truck driver who was 37 when he won the title in 1950, and 1939 winner Andy Szewko of Pittsburgh, now 47.

Six rounds of match play—the last two over 36 holes—will be required to decide the individual championship.

The Hershey qualifying will reduce the field to 64 players for match play competition, starting Wednesday. It also will decide the inter-city team competition for Warren G. Harding trophy, won by Memphis last year.

Three-man teams representing various sectional qualifying sites compete for the team trophy. Their aggregate qualifying scores for the 36 holes decide the title. Buxbaum, William Donaldson and Jack Walton will represent Memphis.

Another strong team entry is Indianapolis, with Don Essig III, recent winner of the Western Junior championship, Reece Berry and Bob Ludlow.

Other cities which have full teams in the Harding trophy competition include Chicago and Peoria, Ill.; Louisville, Ky.; Detroit, St. Paul, Minn.; and Milwaukee.

Fort Madison Ready For 10th Annual Rodeo

The Fort Madison Rodeo operating committee announced today that plans have been completed for their 10th Annual World Championship Rodeo to be held Sept. 7th and 8th.

This year's rodeo will feature two great stars, Gene Autry with his horse Champion and Champ Jr., and Annie Oakley, star of the Annie Oakley television show. The Riders of the Purple Sage will also appear along with Jim Eskey Jr., world's champion trick and fancy rope expert. The Vaqueros and their Flying White Horses in a sensational riding and jumping exhibition, and three top Rodeo Clowns, Ken Boen, Buck LeGrand and the famous Kaffoj Kid.

Many of the nation's top cowboys will be competing in the regular contest events of bareback bronc riding, steer wrestling, saddle bronc riding, Brahma bull riding, calf roping, bulldogging, and the ever popular Brahma wild cow milking contest. Since the Fort Madison Rodeo offers one of the largest prize purses in the nation, $7,300—many thrills and spills are assured.

The permanent Rodeo Arena which was completely remodeled last year will seat 10,000 at each of the four performances. Anyone wishing to order tickets may do so by writing the Rodeo Ticket office, Box 302, Fort Madison, Iowa.

What proved the winning run came in the fifth when veteran third baseman Bobby Adams opened with a double. Bob Speake and Moryn drew passes to load the bases against Johnny Antonelli, who suffered his 10th loss, before Adams scored on Bolger's sacrifice fly.

BRUTON PLACED ON 30-DAY DISABLED LIST

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves said Wednesday that baseball Commissioner Ford Frick had approved placement of centerfielder Billy Bruton on the 30-day disabled list effective July 19.

The move will enable the injury-riddled Braves—who Tuesday night had catcher Del Crandall playing in the outfield—to add another outfielder to the roster, if they can find one.

Bruton injured his knee in a collision with Felix Mantilla of Milwaukee's last eastern road trip.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

WATER HAZARD—As the other runners try to maneuver around his fallen form, A. C. Porter, 41, comes a cropper at a runner jump during the running of a 3,000-meter steeplechase at White City Stadium in London. The trick is to stay out of trouble and on your feet.

DEMARET MISSED OPEN TIE BY ONE INCH
TOLEDO (AP)—Jimmy Demaret, who has been playing golf at 47, probably can recall a dozen shots that cost him a tie in the National Open at Inverness. But there was one on the ninth hole of the final round. A 15-foot putt fell short of the hole by one inch when he tried for a birdie 3. He had hit a nice soft wood shot to the green.

"It was the first time either of them (Dick Mayer and Cary Middlecoff) beat me this year," said a sad-faced Demaret who watched Mayer sink a 10-foot birdie putt on the last hole. Jimmy watched from a locker room window.

"I had disregarded Mayer," Demaret added. "When I came up to the 18th hole I looked at the board but I was concentrating on Julius Boros, Roberto DeVincenzo and Cary Middlecoff."

Mayer and Middlecoff both beat Demaret by one shot, tying at 282. Mayer won the 18-hole playoff with a 72. Middlecoff had a nervousous 79.

Florida Paper Says Dodgers Will Move West

BROOKLYN (AP)—The Jacksonville, Fla., Journal Wednesday quoted Emil (Buzze) Bavasi, vice president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, as saying the Brooklyn baseball club would move to Los Angeles for the 1958 season.

But Bavasi said in Brooklyn the Journal sports editor, Jack Halstrom, had "jumped to conclusions," and he merely had said "it looks as if we are not wanted in New York or Brooklyn." Halstrom interviewed Bavasi at Jacksonville late Tuesday.

Both the Dodgers and New York Giants have received permission from the National League to move to California in 1958. Last week Giant President Horace Stoneham told a congressional committee that the Giants probably would make the move to San Francisco.

No Dodger official has said so far when the club might go West, but President Walter O'Malley has indicated frequently during the past two years that the move would be made unless Brooklyn can provide a new and modern ball park to replace Ebbets Field.

Machen Takes One Sided Win Over Bob Baker

CHICAGO (AP)—Unbeaten Eddie Machen, No. 2 heavyweight contender, got little more than a gym workout Wednesday night as he pummeled leathargic Bob Baker for his 22nd consecutive victory at the Chicago Stadium.

The unanimous decision was one of "the most one-sided in recent years at the stadium."

Machen, 25, from San Francisco, did his best to enliven the dull, nationally televised 10 - rounder, but only succeeded in repeatedly jarring the plodding Baker, 31, from Pittsburgh, who outweighed him by 18 pounds.

The small crowd was booing lustily in the closing round.

Redlegs Blank Bucs 2-0; Second Shutout Of Year

CINCINNATI (AP)—Joe Nuxhall, continuing a recovery from a miserable first half of the season, pitched the Cincinnati Redlegs' second shutout of the season Wednesday night as he blanked the Pittsburgh Pirates 2-0. He allowed eight hits while loser Bob Friend of the Pirates gave up only

The Reds got both of their runs off Friend in the third. One of them was unearned.

Dick Groat got four of the Bucs' eight safe wallops and Frank Thomas had two.

There were two out when the Redlegs went to work in the third. Singles by Johnny Temple, Gus Bell and Frank Robinson accounted for one run. Bell scored the other as Roberto Clemente dropped George Crowe's fly ball in right.

Red Sox Come From Behind To Shade A's 6-5

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox bunched all their runs in one inning capped by Ted Williams' decisive sacrifice fly Wednesday for a 6 - 5 victory over Kansas City.

Trailing 3 - 0, the Sox chased loser Ralph Terry in the fourth inning on five hits, the sacrifice fly, a walk and an error.

The A's kept alive when Bud Held slammed a two-run homer in the sixth.

But winner Tom Brewer retired the last 10 A's batters in order to seal the verdict. The win was Brewer's 12th of the season.

APARICIO SPIKED BY UMPIRE AT 3RD BASE, WEDNESDAY

NEW YORK (AP)—Luis Aparicio, hitting star in the Chicago White Sox's 7-2 victory over the New York Yankees Wednesday, now knows that an umpire can hurt player in more ways than calling a decision on a play.

The White Sox's rookie shortstop received four spike wounds on his right wrist when he made an unsuccessful attempt to steal third in the eighth inning. The wounds came from the spikes of Bill McKinley, third base umpire, as Aparicio slid into the bag.

No stitches were necessary but it will not be known until Thursday whether the brilliant infielder will be out of the lineup for any length of time.

Sports Trail

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK (AP)—Well, you get a couple of native guides, follow a trail marked by notches on lamp posts, and with good luck you'll find the headquarters of the Floyd Patterson-Hurricane Jackson heavyweight championship fight.

Even when you locate the building you might have a little trouble. You go through the side door of an apartment building on 53rd street off Broadway, punch button No. 4 on a self-service elevator, and emerge in a hallway.

The rest is easy, as "arrows" point almost frantically toward an apartment where two sedate gentlemen sit at ease before new desks exchanging pleasantries. In an adjoining room, ordinarily a bedroom, a stout man, stripped to his undershirt, pecks out news releases on a typewriter as a gum-chewing kid nonchalantly stuffs mimeographed sheets into envelopes.

The sedate gentlemen are Ned Brown and Jimmy Bronson, who lend a touch of class to the picture with their courtly air and trim attire. The desks are clear and there is nothing to interfere with the tranquility of the picture except the periodical jangling of the telephone.

Occasionally expeditionary forces of reporters are sent out to the camps of the fighters from the headquarters, but the courier service is irregular, the runners failing to get through because of heavy shelling or something, and a party is liable to head for a camp unaware the particular fighter is not working that day.</

HEDGING, SELLING PUSH WHEAT, RYE FUTURES DOWN

CHICAGO, (U) — Hedging and selling influenced by good crop weather pushed wheat and rye futures prices downward in an irregular trading session on the Board of Trade Wednesday. All deliveries of new crop wheat lost fractions to as much as a cent and September rye was off 1/2 cents at the close. Corn, oats and September soybeans closed about steady but new crop soybeans and all rye contracts were lower.

New crop wheat closed 1/4 to 1/2 cent lower, corn 1/4 higher to 1/2 lower, oats 1/4 to 1/2 higher, rye 1 to 1 1/2 lower, soybeans 1/4 higher to 3/4 lower and lard 7 to 15 cents a hundred pounds lower.

Wheat, off slightly at the start, rallied later on buying by export dealers. Short covering and a slackening in hedging helped corn and oats futures.

Buying of September soybeans was influenced by the belief that a government report on stocks of soybeans in all positions as of July 1 would be smaller than expected.

The report, released after the close of the market, confirmed this belief. The government reported soybean stocks totaled 87,251,000 bushels compared with 126,907,000 bushels three months ago and 64,275,000 a year ago.

Some trade sources earlier had estimated the report would show a stockpile ranging from 92 million to 110 million bushels.

The Agriculture Department report showed stocks of wheat in all position, totaled 905,240,000 bushels on July 1 compared with an April 1 stock of 1,187,791,000 bushels.

Stocks of corn totaled 1,962,500,000 bushels compared with 2,586,905,000 bushels April 1.

Prices of key stocks moved irregularly as the market continued what analysts call a consolidation phase following its recent advance almost to new historic highs.

Rails once again scrambled ahead to make up partially for their consistent lag behind the industrials. There is hope in the industry, too, that a freight rate boost will be forthcoming.

The steel went forward smartly after rails began their advance. Bethlehem Steel makes its half-yearly report Thursday and U. S. Steel next Tuesday.

But the market as a whole did not respond to certain bullish news items. One was the rise in the cost of living for the tenth straight month to a record high, bringing with it automatic pay boosts for some 650,000 workers.

Another was the statement by Commerce Secretary Weeks who said indications were for a record year although the economy looks "spotty" now.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 40 cents to $167.50 with the industrials up 30 cents, the rails up 15 and the utilities down 20 cents.

On the American Stock exchange prices were mixed. Volume totaled 810,000 shares compared with 840,000 Tuesday.

NEW YORK, (U) — The bond market closed lower Wednesday with investment quality corporates, rails and utilities on the downside. Industrials had some scattered gains to post an irregular pattern.

U. S. government bonds were definitely lower, with weakness evident especially among long-range issues. Again there were rumors in Wall Street that the federal reserve had moved in to support intermediate Treasury issues.

Corporate trading volume increased to $3,270,000 par value on the Big Board from $3,050,000 Tuesday.

NEW YORK, (U) — (USDA) — Hogs 9,500; bulk No. 1-3 200-260 lb mixed weight and grade 21.00-25; more uniform and largely No. 1-2, some No. 3 mostly 210-240 lb 21.50-25; about 25 head 210-240 lb No. 2 around 24 lb 21.65; around 325 lb butchers 19.75; mixed grade 180-190 lb 20.25-25; more uniform largely No. 1-2 to 21.00; mixed grade 150-170 lb 18.00-19.25; 120-140 lb 16.25-17.75; sows No. 1-3 400 lb down 18.00-19.00; heavier sows mostly 16.00-17.50; bony over 250 lb 11.50-13.00; lighter weights to 14.00.

Cattle 3,500; calves 600; good and choice steers 22.50-24.00; good and choice heifers and mixed choice mixed yearlings 24.50; utility and commercial cows largely 14.00-16.00; commercial bulls 12.00-15.00; few prime vealers to 24.00; choice largely 21.00-23.00; good 19.00-21.00; standard and low good 15.00-18.00.

INDICATE DEFEAT OF PART 3 OF CIVIL RIGHTS BILL—Senate Republican Leader William Knowland (left) talks with newsmen at the White House after informing President Eisenhower that the controversial Part III of his Civil Rights bill faces a probable defeat. Listening are White House Press Secretary James Hagerty (center) and House GOP Leader Joseph Martin.

AIR POWER ANNIVERSARY—This new six-cent air-mail stamp will be issued on Aug. 1, to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the United States Air Force as part of the national defense system. Air Force blue in color, the stamp features a B-52 Stratofortress in a banking position with three F-104 Starfighters in the background. The Air Force eagle and thunderbolt shield are in upper left.

NOSE BAG—This Air Force F-86 Sabre Jet is well screened. The air intake is covered with a screen when the craft is warming up or taxiing to prevent foreign objects from being sucked through the intake. Scene is Yokota Air Base, Japan.

NEW WITNESS—Merchant seaman Ernest Kolofollas of Long Beach, Calif., looks at United Press photos of Donald Wedler, self confessed slayer of Marilyn Sheppard. Kolofollas said without doubt "that this must be the fellow" with whom he hitched a ride in Cleveland the night she was killed, but Wedler denies picking up anyone.

Couturiere Bases New Dress Designs On Satellite Travel

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor
NEW YORK, (U) — Adele Simpson prepares for space travel in her fall 1957 collection, looking toward the year when America will launch the first earth satellite. She shows "constellation suits" traveling in a "new orbit" and planned for a "visit to a smart planet."

Colors include meteor red, atmosphere green, comet blue, rocket gray and ultra violet. Costumes are worn with their own jewelry designs in star, moon and constellation motifs. And as if this were not enough, the diminutive designer with the big ideas shows a whole collection of furs coordinated with her coats, suits and dresses.

Mrs. Simpson firmly believes that American women should be prepared to look their stratospheric best when dropping in for a visit to Mars or Venus, and is determined that spacewomen from other planets shall not outshine our earth girls.

Suits and ensembles are further bearing in the Simpson collection, with particular emphasis on Adele's new favorite, Somali leopard, which she imports from the new African state of Ghana. She uses it in hats, muffs, scarfs, handbags, belts, jackets and full length coats. To provide accent drama for her smooth, urbane and effortless suits and costumes in featherweight wools and subtle colors.

Jackets of leopard, broadtail, seal and mink are coordinated with slender dresses for costumes that would be at home on any planet.

For after-5 wear, Mrs. Simpson believes in misty, cloudy-like chiffon skirts swirling below jeweled or sequined tops.

British Jets Fire On Rebel Oman Tribesmen

tribesmen did not call of their revolt within 48 hours. The deadline passed Tuesday night.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd announced in London that British action would be confined to air strikes to discourage the rebels and prevent them from receiving arms from "outside" sources.

He said the sending of troops to the hot desert areas would be a "military futility" although two plane loads of troops were flown out to Bahrain from East Africa earlier this week.

Suspect Saudi
The British have not identified the outside sources said to be furnishing the rebels with modern arms, but it is clear their suspicions are turned upon neighboring Saudi Arabia.

Britain has been proceeding carefully, lest a policy split develop with the United States. The latter has supplied economic and arms aid to Saudi Arabia's King in furtherance of the Eisenhower Doctrine to bolster anticommunism in the Middle East.

Longstanding Feud
King Saud of Arabia, who draws big revenues from American oil companies operating in his country, has long had a territorial feud with the Sultan of Muscat and Oman.

In Washington, the State Department said Britain had given it no advance word it planned an air attack on the Oman rebels.

British representatives, however, have during the past several days told top American officials of the general British policy of supporting the Sultan. This information did not include any specific notice on contemplated military moves, officials said.

Cost Of Living Hits New Peak 10th Month In Row

it appears at about this time next month, almost certainly will show another increase. Fresh fruits and vegetables had not reached their seasonal peak in June, he said, and meat prices also are likely to stay high.

In August, however, consumers may get their first relief from the steady upswing since last fall. Clague said the harvest month should bring a drop in food prices, which account for about one-third of the entire index.

The price average in September should remain at about the August level, Clague said. And there is a possibility—but only a possibility—of slight declines in November and December.

SEIZE 3 BOYS FOR OPENING SWITCH TO SEE TRAIN WRECK

LINCOLN, Ill. (U) — Eight boys from 8-10 years old were seized Tuesday night after, police said, they threw open a railroad switch so they could "see a train turn over."

Their target, an Illinois Central Railroad freight train, chugged to a halt just in time when an alert engineer spotted the open switch. The engineer, who police did not identify, said the train would have tipped over if it had kept going.

The youngsters were captured by city and railroad police as they fled across IC tracks at the eastern edge of this central Illinois city.

Police quoted them as saying they wanted "to see a train turn over."

No charges have been filed against the boys. They were released to the custody of their parents pending further questioning today.

STRIP CIVIL RIGHTS BILL OF POWERS

the Anderson-Aiken amendment, Majority Leader Johnson (D-Tex.) called up a jury trial amendment proposed by Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.). This was a surprise, since supporters of the bill had expected to go to work next on amendments to the commission part of the bill.

Vice President Nixon, who was presiding, followed Senate custom and recognized the majority leader first, although Minority Leader Knowland (R-Calif.) was seeking recognition at the same time. Knowland heads the bipartisan coalition backing the bill.

Provides Jury Trials
The O'Mahoney amendment would provide for jury trials in injunction proceedings where persons were charged with contempt and threatened with criminal penalties. It is one of several pending proposals for jury trials under the bill.

Knowland's coalition opposes a jury trial amendment as weakening the legislation, some members of the group contending that juries in the South would not convict in cases involving the voting rights of Negroes.

As the Senate prepared to vote on the Anderson-Aiken change, Johnson said it would be a crucial test that "well may be the deciding factor as to whether we have a bill or no bill."

POULTRY MARKET

CHICAGO, (U) — (USDA) — Live poultry about steady; Tuesday 85,000 lb; wholesale buying prices unchanged; heavy hens 14-15 1/2; light hens 12-13 1/2; old roosters 12-13; caponettes under 4 1/2 lb 26 1/2-27 1/2; over 4 1/2 lb 27 1/2-29.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst
Any attempt to equate the Clinton verdict with the civil rights debate in the Senate is likely to run into trouble.

There is no definite relationship between what a jury will do today and what it or another one will do under similar circumstances tomorrow.

The jury foreman merely said: "We tried our best to come up with a just verdict."

He didn't say whether the jury had been put on its mettle by widespread charges in connection with the civil rights debate that all-white Southern juries would not be fair in cases involving Negroes.

He didn't say how the jury arrived at its decisions. That it was meticulous is attested by the selective verdict. Seven men were convicted and four acquitted of contempt of a federal injunction against interference with school desegregation.

The foreman didn't say whether the outlander Kasper, by encouraging home folks to get into trouble, had forfeited the sympathy he might have expected from a Southern jury.

He didn't say that traditional politics—the civil war pro-Union and subsequent Republican leaning of the east Tennessee area—entered into it at all.

He just said the jury tried to do its duty.

Yet the verdict came as a surprise. When the government rested there was considerable doubt that it had made a case. Defense attorneys, some of them among the most experienced lawyers in the South, were so convinced the jury would not convict, that they put up no evidence.

The evidence had a different effect on the jury, familiar as it was with the whole background of the case. Either that, or it leaned over backward to keep from being called "just another Southern jury."

The case is not over. Some of the judge's procedures have been questioned and will be fought over on appeal.

To say, then, that it proves anything one way or another in connection with the civil rights bill is to stretch things considerably.

BUCKLES UNDER PHILADELPHIA

(U) — A defendant in a burglary case stood in court here Tuesday and vehemently denied any guilt, protesting that his confession was a frameup, given under coercion.

Then the victim of the theft, Walter L. Dodson, pointed to a belt with a large initial "D" on its buckle which the defendant, Harold Smith, 42, was wearing.

Assistant Dist. Atty. Charles Peruto asked Smith to explain the initial. Smith conferred with his attorney, Cecil B. Moore, for a few moments.

Moore announced that his client was changing his plea to guilty.

EDUCATION MAGAZINE FOLDS

NEW YORK, (U) — Progressive Education Magazine, long a voice for the "learning by doing" method of educating children, has closed its pages for good.

The end of the 33-year-old magazine was announced Tuesday by Dr. H. Gordon Hullfish.

Interest in the progressive education movement dwindled after World War II. A swing began toward the conservative approach with more emphasis on the three R's—reading, writing and arithmetic.

COWBOYS-FOR-A-DAY HERD WILD PONIES ACROSS CHANNEL

CHINCOTEAGUE, Va. (U) — Thousands of tourists lined the streets and shore here today to watch a wild West scene recreated on this Atlantic Ocean island.

Cowboys-for-a-day, wearing hip boots, will herd some 300 of Assateague's wild and shaggy ponies across the 2,000-yard water separation between the two islands.

The swim across the channel to Chincoteague takes about half an hour.

Thursday the ponies will be auctioned off at the Firemen's Carnival. Those not sold will be returned to Assateague and another year of freedom.

TRAP SHOOT

Jacksonville Sportsman's Club

Thurs. evening starting 6:30.

Tuesday there were two fallen comrades to bury. As far as anybody can recall this is the first time that two veterans have been buried here on the same day.

The departed soldiers were David Anderson of Quincy and Edward Reed of Aurora. Both died at the Veterans Unit Saturday afternoon.

Those taking part in the rites were Commander Edward Brennan, Chaplain Eugene Young and Rev. Harvey E. Dibreil of Centenary Methodist church.

The officer of the day was George Vasconcellos, at extreme

The Gilham Funeral Home prepared the bodies for burial.

There was not a relative or friend present. Not a tear was shed. But the Legion was there to fulfill the nation's final obligation to two soldiers who had answered final roll call.

Probe Possible Bribery In VA Loans In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal grand jury investigation into possible bribery and malfeasance in Veterans Administration loans in Chicago opened Wednesday.

Subpoenas were issued for records to 23 banks, savings and loan associations, mortgage houses and construction companies. Also ordered to appear was Miss Marlene Allen of suburban Berwyn, 23 secretary to Gen. Robert E. Moffet, 38, suspended chief of the VA Chicago home loan appraisal section.

Harry D. Strouse, assistant U. S. attorney, said the jury is investigating the possible offering or accepting of bribes and the making of false statements in the Chicago office.

The investigation resulted from statements by builder Alfred Rado after Leon Marcus, former president of the Southmoor Bank & Trust Co., was slain immediately after leaving Rado's home March 30. The bank figured in the 24-million-dollar Orville Hodge scandal.

About half a dozen VA employees have resigned, been suspended or applied for retirement since an investigation into irregularities began.

DOER OF GOOD GETS WORST END OF DEAL

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Prof. Bruce Foote sang, pianist Dick Cisne played, and Prof. A. Morris Carter held up the pedals of the piano.

That's how the three combined Tuesday night to entertain a grandstand crowd at the Champaign County Fair.

Foote, a baritone and a professor of music at the University of Illinois, got two encores. Cisne got applause. Carter got his fingers stepped on.

An instructor in the string section of the U. of I. orchestra, Carter's appearance in the act was completely unscheduled.

He was among the first to notice the pedal post of Cisne's piano give away during Foote's opening number and rallied to the pianist's assistance.

Crouching beneath the keyboard, he held the pedals in position. Cisne was carried away during Foote's rendition of "Surrey With the Fringe on Top" and his heavy foot bruised Carter's fingers under the pedals during several crescendos.

GIRARD FARMER DIES IN TRACTOR ACCIDENT

GIRARD, Ill. (AP) — Farmer Dewey Norman, 25, was killed Wednesday when the tractor he was driving overturned in a creek bed on his farm.

Norman's body was found by his wife and a friend, Bartie O'Neill, of nearby Springfield. The two had set out to look for Norman when he failed to meet his wife in Girard as he had planned.

Prisoner Taken From City To Hannibal, Mo. Attempts To End Life

George William Toolate, 32, who faced a charge of aggravated assault in Morgan county, was taken to Hannibal, Mo., Tuesday by Missouri deputies to answer more serious charges. He attempted suicide by drinking a roach powder mixture in the Marion county jail at Hannibal Tuesday night.

Toolate, who had been residing on North Walnut street in Springfield, faces charges at Hannibal of assault, rape, and robbery.

The complainant to the new charges is Miss Ruth Ann Scheer of Hannibal.

Toolate was arrested July 1 in Jacksonville on complaint of his wife, Wilma, on a charge of aggravated assault. He was released under $1,000 bond, which was raised to $3,000 on request of State's Attorney Charles Ryan.

Notified that more serious charges had been filed in Missouri, authorities here turned the defendant over to Hannibal officers.

According to Hannibal officers, Miss Scheer said Toolate forced her into an automobile near her home in Hannibal at 10:30 p.m. Friday, drove out of town about two miles where he assaulted her and took $400.

A bartender in a Hannibal tavern, however, told police that she was in the tavern all Friday afternoon and evening, up to closing time Saturday morning.

She is being held as a witness. Toolate tried to commit suicide in the jail Tuesday night. Prisoners heard him groaning and coughing and he told officers that he had found some roach powder in his cell and had mixed it with water—drinking two paper cupsful. He was taken to a Hannibal hospital, where his condition is regarded as fair. He left a note to his wife, but the sheriff declined to divulge contents.
